I NEVER pay my kids an allowance!!

Paying them money simply because a week passed by builds an entitlement attitude (in my opinion). Instead, they must find and complete projects (or read non-fiction books and write a book summary) to earn 💰.

On Sunday, McKinley came to me with a project 💡 idea. "Dad, I'm going to clean up and categorize one of your bookshelves!"

Bottom pic: AFTER.

I think she did an outstanding job!! She organized each shelf by category too.

Teach kids to show initiative and earn money by finding opportunities to contribute in a positive way. Passing on your values to your kids and grandkids is just as important, if not more important, than passing on a money inheritance.
