If you think the stock market is “too high”, wait til you see it 20 years from now. The S&P 500 has averaged +10.2% per year (total return) over the 25 years ending 12/31/19.

To actually achieve that high level of growth, you must be patient and level-headed through some terribly scary times. Yes, the market will continue to be highly volatile, especially leading up to a contentious election in November.

Volatility is not your enemy. Emotions and distractions are your enemy. Successful investing is more dependent on investor behavior than investment performance.

As Nick Murray says, “Timing the market is a fools game whereas time in the market is your greatest natural advantage.” Investing successfully is just one ingredient to your overall financial success. We'd be happy to discuss your personal financial life to see where you could get to your goals faster and more tax-efficiently. Click the blue button below to schedule a conversation with us.

Have a great weekend!
