Hello ,

Nobody in the world has influenced me more than my mom. She's a pillar of strength and full of love. Though she's battling a rare form of Parkinson's Disease, she fights with an optimistic "can do" attitude about her future.

Besides my mom, I'm grateful for my wife Amber, the superstar mother of our 5 kids. She brings the fun, extreme adventure, and patience to our family! As we celebrate Mother's Day today, we reflect on the profound and personal influence of mothers.

Mothers are the embodiment of love, sacrifice, and resilience. They nurture, guide, and inspire, creating an environment where personal growth and emotional well-being can thrive. From instilling values and teaching life skills to encouraging creativity and compassion, mothers lay a strong foundation for success.

Beyond their immediate families, mothers contribute significantly to society. We have many mothers at PACIFIC CAPITAL and they are vital to the success of our team and our clients. Mothers also play a vital role in building communities, dedicating themselves to philanthropy, volunteering, and advocating for important causes.

Their unwavering commitment inspires others to pursue their dreams and make a difference. Tonight, and always, let's take a moment to honor and express our heartfelt gratitude to all the incredible mothers out there. Happy Mother's Day!

Sincerely,
