Hello First name / friend,

Yesterday, my daughter, McKinley Willardson joined the ranks of high school graduates. As you've seen in past posts and newsletters, we're proud of her efforts and resilience, and the depth of her ambition.

To McKinley and every young graduating adult embarking on your next chapter, here are 5 tips for the next phase of your journey:

- 1. 🌱 Embrace Lifelong Learning: Never stop learning. Whether it's new skills, industry updates, or personal development, stay curious. In an ever-changing world, adaptability is key.
- 2. 💼 Pursue Passion, Not Paychecks: Find work you love and build your career around it. Remember, a fulfilling job is not always the one with the highest salary.
- 3. 💡 Network Wisely: Your network is one of your most valuable assets. Connect with people who inspire you, support your goals, and broaden your perspectives.
- 4. 💰 Start Investing Early: It's never too soon to start saving and investing for the future. Even if you start small, the magic of compound interest will grow your wealth over time.
- 5. ⏳ Balance is Essential: Work hard but remember that life is more than your career. Invest in relationships, health, hobbies, and personal growth too.

Continue to blaze your trails, no matter how steep the path may be! 🏔️ I know many of you also have recent graduates in your extended families. At this time, we celebrate not just an end, but a vibrant beginning to all the graduates out there — go make the best of your future! 🎓🎉

Ps. Great book for recent graduates right here.

Sincerely,
