Hello ,

Growing up, my favorite “TV show” was SPORTSCENTER!

If you’re not familiar (welcome to planet earth), it showcased the day’s best and most incredible highlights from a wide range of sports.

In many ways, a lot of social media follows a similar pattern. It shows a continuous flow of top highlights from peoples’ lives.

If you’re the jealous type who can’t handle seeing others succeed, then social media might not be the healthiest place for you to spend time. But if witnessing the success of others ignites a fire inside you to achieve greatness in your own life, then it can serve as a source of inspiration.

Personally, I absolutely love seeing and hearing about other people WINNING and SUCCEEDING! Pictured above are two personal friends and PACIFIC CAPITAL clients, Michael and Casey, both winners of the prestigious EY Entrepreneur of the Year Award! We are so happy for them, their families, and their companies. Their leadership inspires all of us. Celebrating others who succeed doesn’t take away from your life, it actually lifts you up to think more abundantly about what’s possible.

As the first half of 2023 comes to a close, let’s embrace the attitude of celebrating and supporting the accomplishments of others. Good karma always comes back around anyway.

As always, my PACIFIC CAPITAL team is here when you need us. Click here to schedule a call.

Ps. A great book on how to adopt a mindset of abundance and gratitude instead of scarcity and envy is “The Gap and the Gain” by Dan Sullivan and Dr. Benjamin Hardy. I highly recommend it!

Sincerely,
